Anti-colonialism & Its Trajectories

Postcolonial & Decolonial Thought

A conversation between Professor ANIA LOOMBA (UPenn) and Professor NELSON MALDONADO-TORRES (Rutgers)
Monday, October 30, 11am-12.45pm (followed by a catered lunch)

What are Postcolonial and Decolonial thought? Do they emerge out of a shared anti-colonial struggle, reflect unique valences of an encounter with empire, or constitute wholly unique epistemological orientations? How do they grapple with class, race, caste and gender? What are their respective critiques of the globalized world and its legacies of colonial practice?

Join postcolonial studies critic Ania Loomba and decolonial thinker Nelson Maldonado-Torres in conversation.
