Annupalakunnathu Matthew (Professor of Art, University of Rhode Island) will present her photo-based artwork, which uses archival and family photographs as inspiration for examining concepts of memory, cultural belonging, and national identity. Matthew’s photography challenges the distance between past & present and the separation between fact & fabricated history.