

2009-2010 IRW Distinguished Lecture Series

Gendered Agency

Thursday, October 29

Saba Mahmood

Social Cultural Anthropology, UC-Berkeley

Religious Ethics, Agency, and Feminist Politics: Some Reflections on Politics of Piety

4:30-6:00 p.m.

4:00 p.m. Reception

Ruth Dill Johnson Crockett Building 162 Ryders Lane
Douglass Campus, New Brunswick

For more information contact the IRW at 732-932-9072; <http://irw.rutgers.edu>

The Institute for Research on Women's Distinguished Lecture Series is generously supported by the School of Arts and Sciences and the Office of the Executive Vice President for Academic Affairs.

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences

“Why do ethical practice and bodily form matter to questions of feminist politics and analytics.?”

By engaging some common misreadings of arguments in Politics of Piety, this talk urges feminist scholars to critically re-think the normative status
accorded to secular conceptions of the self and body.”

The Institute for Research on Women advances cutting-edge scholarship on gender and women; promotes faculty, graduate and undergraduate student connections; and builds intellectual community across Rutgers departments and campuses.